CASE BASED PASSAGES

Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow.

The Influence of Cell Phones on Teenagers

Cell phones have become an essential part of teenagers' daily routines, influencing their social interactions, academic performance and mental health. A study by the Youth Digital Behaviour Institute surveyed 1,000 teenagers aged 13-18 to explore how cell phone use impacts their lives (Source: Youth Digital Behaviour Institute, 2023).

Social Interaction

About 70% of teenagers spend more than 3 hours daily on social media, with 42% admitting that they feel anxious when they are not actively checking their phones. This constant connection creates a risk of digital dependence, with 28% reporting social isolation despite being virtually connected (Source: Pew Research Center, 2023).

Academic Impact

The study found that 55% of teens use their phones during school hours and 33% believe it negatively affects their academic performance. Notifications and messaging apps were identified as key distractions, lowering concentration levels in class (Source: Common Sense Media, 2023).

Mental Health

Excessive phone use has also been linked to mental health issues. Around 30% of teens reported experiencing stress and anxiety due to overuse, while 22% felt depressed after prolonged social media exposure, leading to concerns about the emotional effects of constant comparison and cyber bullying.

Statistics on Teenagers' Cell Phone Use

Category	Percentage
Social media use (>3 hrs daily)	70%
Phone use during school hours	55%
Negative academic impact	33%
Feeling depressed post-use	22%
Anxiety due to phone use	30%

These statistics provide a snapshot of how cell phones impact teenagers today and how their usage patterns are linked to both positive and negative effects.

2. On the basis of your reading of the passage and visual input, answer the questions which follow:

Tourism is one of the fastest-growing global industries, contributing approximately $9.5 trillion to the world economy and accounting for about 10% of global employment (World Travel & Tourism Council, 2023). Beyond leisure, it fosters cross-cultural understanding and personal growth. Tourists visiting sites like Jaipur's Amer Fort or Kerala's backwaters engage not only with scenic beauty but also with rich histories and diverse cultures. Tourism provides people with opportunities to relax, rejuvenate, and expand their worldview.

At the same time, tourism significantly boosts infrastructure and the local economy. About 25% of tourism's impact is seen in the development of roads, transportation, and hospitality services. Regions like Kerala have developed thriving houseboat and eco-tourism ventures that create jobs and support local artisans. Cultural preservation, making up another 25% of the impact, is promoted through community-led initiatives that keep traditional art and customs alive while generating income.

However, 40% of tourism's impact is environmental, making sustainability a growing concern. Popular destinations like Shimla and Ladakh are experiencing severe water shortage and rising pollution due to tourist overload. Over-tourism also causes irreversible damage to cultural landmarks; the Taj Mahal, for example, suffers from wear and tear due to excessive foot traffic. As pristine getaways become overcrowded, their charm and ecological balance are threatened.

To address these challenges, a sustainable tourism model must be prioritised. This includes promoting eco-friendly travel in places like Uttarakhand, banning single-use plastics, and educating tourists on responsible behavior. Governments and travelers alike must work together to reduce harm and preserve natural and cultural heritage. Only by doing so can tourism continue to enrich lives without depleting the very treasures it celebrates.

Based on your understanding of the passage, answer the questions given below:

1. What is the environmental impact percentage of tourism, and how does it affect destinations like Shimla and Ladakh?
